

Historic, Archive Document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

VERTICAL FILE
 S. R. S. FORMS
 JAN 27 1922
 S. R. S.-LIBRARY

COOPERATIVE EXTENSION WORK IN AGRICULTURE AND HOME ECONOMICS

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
 AND STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGES
 COOPERATING

STATES RELATIONS SERVICE
 OFFICE OF EXTENSION WORK
 WASHINGTON, D. C.

THIS LOOKS GOOD

ANNUAL REPORTS BY AEROPLANE

 All Records Broken

County Agent King of White Pine County, Nevada, sent his annual report to Reno by aeroplane, a distance of over 500 miles, in order that it might be forwarded to the Washington Office on time along with other Nevada reports. The train service out of Ely is only tri-weekly and had Mr. King sent the report out by train, it would have reached the State Office three to four days late. This spirit and determination so characteristic of county agents as a group has established a new record for reporting this year.

With the last mail today, December 17, the end of the first week after reports were due at Washington this year, the actual count stands --

Total reports due North and West	1274
Reports received.....	1092
Balance due.....	182

This record smashes the fine record made last year and is a fitting tribute to the high standard of efficiency maintained by county agents.

Sixteen States have submitted complete reports for all agents. These HONOR States are: New Mexico, Kansas, Massachusetts, Montana, New Jersey, Maine, North Dakota, California, Vermont, Nevada, Washington, Arizona, Colorado, Utah, Delaware, and Wyoming.

Already tabulation has been completed for 17 States, while 6 more States are partially tabulated. More than 600 narrative reports have been read and indexed. There is every prospect that the national summary will be completed at least one week ahead of last year.

The Washington Office keenly appreciates the fine record made by county agents this year in submitting reports, and fully realizes that it has been possible only through the complete cooperation of every county agent and county agent leader. We thank each agent and leader for reporting so promptly, and extend greetings to all for a

"HAPPY CHRISTMAS AND SUCCESSFUL NEW YEAR."

County Agent Section 12-17-21 No. 77
--	--

